"Indian Pete's Gratitude" (Kalem). An Indian picture depicting the well-known Indian characteristic of gratitude for a kindness done. In this half-breed, befriended by some white people, gives up his life in an effort to assist them in maintaining their ownership of a mine. His efforts are successful, but he receives a mortal wound, living only long enough to know he has done what he tried to do. The picture is melodramatic and has a number of thrilling scenes. It's at the Dreamland.
Congressman Frank Plimley has recommended John E. Sullivan as first assistant postmaster at Hardwick, and his commission is expected soon. Mr. Sullivan has received strong endorsement from the people of Hardwick, to whom he is well known through his position as one of the leading men in the stone industry in that town, with which business he has been identified for twenty years. He was born in Bangor, Me., in 1849, and there learned the granite cutters' trade. In 1882 he located in Barre, where he remained nine years, and went from there to Hardwick. At one time he was a Democrat, but for 25 years has been associated with the Republican party.
In response to a still alarm turned in shortly before 8 o'clock Saturday night, the chemical engine and firemen made a quick trip to the residence of R. A. Hunt on East street to subdue a stubborn chimney fire. The fire had gained considerable headway on the arrival of the firemen, breaking through the chimney in places and threatening to ignite the roof at any moment. The chemicals, however, were brought into immediate play, and the blaze was soon extinguished. A high wind prevailed at the time, and but for the timely arrival of the fire would doubtless have assumed much larger proportions. As it happened, the damage was slight.

SESSION ENDS

IN WRANGLE

overcome every objection that has been raised by the Central Vermont Railway company and that no reasonable fault can be found with them. They were not, however, accepted, and your committee can therefore only report a disagreement.

(Signed)

Newman K. Chaffee,
Charles A. Calderwood,
Frederick H. Babbitt,

Committee on the part of the House.
This leaves the matter just as it stood before the presentation of the bill in the interests of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Gov. Mead's Veto.

Gov. Mead's veto of the flat rate on intangibles bill was presented to the House at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The reason given by the governor for his veto was that House bill 690, removing the limit from the amount of savings bank deposits subject to state tax, was enacted with the full understanding that it was for the purpose of raising revenue to meet the increased expenditures provided to be made by the many large special appropriations made at the present session of the general assembly, and that he felt that to now enact legislation depriving the state of that revenue, so raised, would be a serious mistake and one that ought not to be made.

On the question whether the bill should be passed over the governor's veto, Mr. McCuen of Vergennes said that the veto was a technicality and urged the House to stand by its vote. Mr. Webster of Swanton said the reason given by the governor touched only the desirability of the bill as a revenue measure, and he believed the House should pass the bill, the governor's veto to the contrary notwithstanding. The roll was called and 76 members voted to pass the bill while 60 voted to sustain the veto.

The chair then ruled that under the constitution, which provides that to pass a bill over the governor's veto a majority of all the members of the House must vote, the House had not so voted notwithstanding a majority of those present favored it. Mr. Corwin of Chelsea appealed from the decision of the chair to make a test of the case. Mr. Ames of Brighton, Mr. Peck of Burlington, Mr. Hunt of New Haven and Mr. Wright of Westminster favored sustaining the chair. Mr. Webster of Swanton and Mr. McCuen of Vergennes opposed. By a vote of 99 to 31 the chair was sustained.

Trustee Bill Smothered.

The trustee process measure, which seemed in a fair way to get through the legislature, although squelched earlier in the session, was smothered late Saturday night, when the Senate refused to concur in the House proposals of amendment. The House passed the bill, amended, at the afternoon session, and when the bill came before the Senate in the evening the amendment was turned down. The vote in the latter body stood as follows:

Yeas, Adams, Barden, Butler, Butterfield, Clark, Daniels, Field, Gordon, Hitchcock, Powell; nays, Archibald, Coolidge, Cushman, Cutts, Darling, Davis, Griswold, Lyford, Norton, Pike, Porter, Scribner, Seaver, Sheldon, Smith, Taplin.
The House unanimously sustained Governor Mead's sixth veto on H. 394. Introduced by Mr. Carpenter of Northfield, an act to regulate the services of process. The bill was vetoed on the grounds of the excess of travel it would require by constables and deputy sheriffs in the actual delivery of writs.

APPROVED BY GOVERNOR.

Big Batch of Bills and Resolutions Went Under His Pen Saturday.

Bills and resolutions which received the approval of Governor Mead during the closing session were as follows:—

Off for Spring

Stock-Taking Closed Up Last Season's Business
This morning we are bringing from our basement spring goods that have been arriving for the past four weeks as follows:

Wash Goods

This is the only time of the year that you can get all of the new styles in new Gingham.

This is the time of the year that new styles in Gingham come out—never see a new style in the fall.

We are marking these Gingham at very close prices to help this sale to be one of our largest. Many ladies buy early; here is a beautiful assortment of the very latest.

February is the largest Gingham month in the whole year. New York and Boston ladies buy nearly half of their year's supply at these sales. They get style now that they cannot get later, and in many kinds a little better Gingham at the price.

Here is a special Gingham value. A new line of Amoskeag Gingham in plain colors, stripes and plaids. Now in our window at 10c per yard.

Wash Goods

Latest designs in Bates' Gingham. These are the best medium priced Gingham on the market, and this line will show you lots of new spring styles, and the price is but 12 1-2c per yard.

Off times styles in these Bates' Gingham look 25c quality. It pays to get first choice.

New lot of Imported Scotch Gingham. These are all selected designs that we selected while in Boston the first of January. Plaids are large and small for misses' or ladies' dresses. The price, 25c. Sale of Scotch Gingham is increasing each season.

New lot of Eden Cloth for waists and dresses, also for Gents' shirts. This is a 15c cloth, that we are to sell for 12 1-2c.

New lot of Kitten-head Kimono Cloth, 15c per yard.

New line of Colored Pongee Silks at 35c and 50c. These are so much better than last season that they will cut deep into the sale of dollar Silks.

Wool Dress Goods

We will make a good bid for your Dress Goods business. We are to have the new kinds. Prices will be right and we are to carry just the color wanted. No waiting for something different this season. It will be here.

Dress Goods all the fall were higher than for several seasons. Now the price is down again, to even a better price than ever. Yes, we have several kinds to show you that will look very low priced.

Here is a sale on new Sweaters. The first is a $3.00 Sweater, the best made at that price that we have ever sold. They come in a new stitch in cardinal white, oxford and green. Our special price for this sale is $2.35 each.

In this Sweater sale we are to put in our $6.00 fancy stitch Worsted Sweater at only $5.00.

We have just received a very heavy maroon-colored Shaker Sweater at, each, $6.50.

In a Ballroom.

Behind the tall pillars half hiding,
He heard the soft strains of the strings,
And he looked at the gay dancers gliding.
As if they found joy in such things;
But he felt no delight in the measures,
And he wondered how others could care
To indulge in such profitless pleasures
Or deem this a gala affair.

He heard the soft strains and the laughter,
But his fancies went winging away,
And he thought of a dismal hereafter
That might have been golden and gay;
He saw in red cheeks and glad glances
The love that may turn to despair.
"Ah, fools and their foolish romances!"
He said with a desolate air.

He longed for untroubled seclusion
And, watching the gay dancers,
Thought
Of love as a foolish delusion
With sorrow and suffering fraught;
He scoffed at the maidens for flirting
And wondered how men could still
Care—
For the shoes he was wearing were hurting
And he couldn't be barefooted there.

GOOD VALUES

It is not our policy to quote you the lowest possible price on Flour without regard to quality.

It is our policy to make the lowest price possible on the highest grade of Flour. All of our Flour is bought by the car direct from the mills. The housewife making a few loaves at a time does not notice that there are from 25 to 50 loaves per barrel difference between a low and high-grade of Flour.

All of our Flours are tested in our bakery and we know which will give the best results. We use several barrels per day and know that the higher grade Flour, at a higher price, is the best and most economical.
